

REEL – “Dominion” (2008)

CHORUS

(B.Fontana)

There's a bird on my ceiling ...

But I can't see it clearly ...

The rain has come and washed all lived sins away

I stretch out my trembling hand but I can't feel anything at all

Now I am with my eyes turned black and my back numb to the wall

Hear these voices calling in the darkest times

The night has risen, the rain has fallen and your nightmare has just begun ...

There's a feather on my window & a song I keep on hearing

& there's somewhere my little bird still lost in this crazy world

& sometimes I wonder in my sleepless nights if it all will come back to me...

Can you hear these voices from dusk to dawn?

Your nightmare has just begun ...

Can you see the shadows on the wall?

Your nightmare has just begun ...

Your nightmare has just begun ...

Your nightmare has just begun ...